BOOZE DEALER

SOUGHT IN L. A. MURDER PROBE

Bootleg Leader Missing Since the Day Remington Was Slain.

By ROBERT A. DONALDSON, United Press Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—The code of silence of the underworld today tightened about the "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" mystery murder which ended the life of Earle Remington.

In the hands of the police are all the elements of a solution, but thus far this has been precluded by the fact that the men who are believed to hold the key have themselves long been sought by the police.

Threads of the mystery today led to Hollywood, where a man doing a huge liquor trade in the film colony and who is believed to have been associated with the slain clubman and aviator, has disappeared. A check of a number of those known to have been his clients revealed, according to the police, that he has not served their liquor wants since a day or so following Remington's death.

Suspicion that Remington was connected with the Hollywood "dope" ring, which also operates as a liquor ring, was not borne out by a quiet investigation which has been made by officials, it was learned.

NO EVIDENCE FOUND OF DOPE USE

There was no evidence, according to the investigating officers, that Remington either used dope or had a hand either in selling it or in its transportation as a member of the ring which smuggles thousands of dollars' worth of the "stuff" across the international line each week.

This ring has been seriously crippled owing to official action since the death of Wally Reid, film star, and authorities have opened up many sources as to its operations.

The liquor ring with which Remington is believed to have been associated is coast wide, its operations extending from Seattle to San Diego through border running and by sea through river schooners sailing from Vancouver to coast ports.

Many well known liquor operators have left the city and their present whereabouts is unknown, according to police.

$3000 LOST AT POKER, POLICE HEAR.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—A report that Earle Remington, electrical engineer, slain February 15, lost $3000 in a poker game about two weeks before he was killed, and gave I. O. U.'s to cover part of his losses was under investigation today by the police.

The game, said to have been three-handed, lasted three hours, and three quarts of whiskey were said to have been drunk by the players before it ended. Whether Remington redeemed his promises notes with cash and if not, any bearing on his slaying, was the point in which the detectives were interested.

The report of the game was said to have been made to George K. Home, captain of detectives, by a man who watched it as a spectator, and who was asserted to have stated Remington quarreled with the other two players frequently.

He was quoted as expressing the opinion Remington had been "trifled" by professional gamblers.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—(By International News Service.)—Information that Earle Remington, slain clubman and "society bootlegger," was in trouble with other bootleggers in San Francisco and Portland, Ore., was under investigation today.

Mrs. "Peggy" Remington, the slain man's wife, said her husband made a trip to San Francisco about six months ago and was away for several weeks.

There will be only 150 inscriptions in the Hall of Fame in 2009.

During the fifth second of a fall a human body will fall 128 feet.

CAMPAIGN BEGUN

AGAINST PETTY CRIME IN SCHOOL

Educator As School Police Is the Plan Favored by Colburn.

Recent experience it is necessary to resort to stringent measures to protect these children from such people.

"I have this day directed a communication to the chief of police instructing him to notify forces of the police department to put a stop to any violation of the law that would in any way be detrimental to the welfare of school children and have asked him to instruct officers patrolling districts wherein schools are located to co-operate at all times with school principals and advise with them so that all parties may be in a position to adopt corrective measures.

"I am very anxious to put at rest, as far as possible, unsubstantiated statements and rumors regarding any unlawful trafficking in intoxicating liquor, tobacco, etc., among school children, and am seeking your co-operation to this end. If you think it advisable, would suggest that some person in each school, especially the high schools, be delegated to co-operate with the police officer covering the district may have some one with whom he can take up these matters.

"If this plan appeals to you as feasible, I would be pleased to have a list of those designated by you for this work."

COMMISSIONER IS COMMENDED.

Hunter made the following reply to Colburn:

"I am in receipt of your letter telling of your plans to investigate thoroughly and clear up the situation relative to the selling of tobacco to minors in the vicinity of the schools and other practices that are said to have been going on tending to the moral detriment of our young people in the schools.

"Let me say that I commend your action most heartily, and will do everything in my power to help you and the police department to carry it out. I am designating the principal of each elementary school as being especially responsible for co-operation with the Commissioner of Public Health and Safety and the officers of the police department in carrying out this campaign.

Herewith is a list of the principals for the information of your department.

"If at any time there is any step we can take which will further this good work, I shall appreciate your letting me know immediately."

More Troubles

in Europe—Near Sunday Tribune

MORE worries for Europe—some new, some revived after a lull.

For instance, the French are more disturbed than ever over the insecurity of their relations with Britain, following the outbreak of trouble between the Lithuanians and the Poles. And the outspoken sympathy of the Russian Soviets for the Lithuanians has added to Paris' anxiety. France is not satisfied with Bonar Law's neutrality regarding the Ruhr and fears that new conflicts will confront the entire continent with greater crises than ever.

Moreover, Ireland, has practically supplanted the Ruhr as the chief worry of England's Cabinet. Conditions in Erin are growing worse daily, until the work of the government is almost at a standstill as a result of the systematic violence and bloodshed.

Articles describing fully the present conditions in the European countries have been obtained for THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, by the paper's exclusive cable service, from many of the ablest of the trans-Atlantic publicists, and they will be supplemented, as usual, by features contributed by prominent American writers.

FIGHT BLUE LAW IS DECLARATION

Rival Factions Wage War Over Cigarette Statute of State.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 24.—In the face of one of the greatest public demonstrations ever held against blue laws, the Social Welfare League announced today that law enforcement week would be inaugurated in Salt Lake county tomorrow with a view to securing a more rigid enforcement of all laws.

This league last night endorsed the present anti-cigarette law and lauded Sheriff Harries for raiding prominent cafes and arresting leading citizens for violations of the statute.

Among the laws to which the Social Welfare League will give particular prominence during the coming week are the anti-cigarette and curfew laws and the dance hall ordinances.

At noon today whistles in a hundred plants chorused a protest against freak legislation. At 10:30 several thousand protesters, including delegations from Ogden, Panguitch and other towns up to fifty miles distant, crowded into the Orpheum theater where prominent speakers urged formation of a Freeman's League to fight freak legislation and seek repeal of the anti-cigarette law.

Organ Program Is Arranged for Baptist Church

An organ recital will be presented tomorrow evening, beginning at 7:30 p. m., at the First Baptist church when Dr. Ray Hastings, organist of the Temple Baptist church of Los Angeles will give a popular program. Number to be presented are:

First Congregational

At the First Congregational church, tomorrow morning, Dr. Norman F. Swartz will take for his theme "The Church in the Modern City." He will endeavor to interpret the future relationship of the church and the city.

"Analogies from past ages are almost valueless for the modern city is a different thing from the cities of other times. The modern city is a new social-economic invention, having for its economic foundation the use of power. This new situation has demanded such rearrangements of human interests as to perplex us in many matters, such as government, social welfare, and religion. We are just beginning to work out the rudiments of a science showing the proper relationship between the city and the church," said Dr. Swartz, while discussing the topic.

The evening service will be of a patriotic nature, the program centering about the address of the evening on "The Romance of the American Flag," which will be delivered by J. Rush Brown, author of "The Flag of Our Country."

The midweek service on Wednesday will be in the nature of a service of appreciation for Dr. and Mrs. Swartz. Dr. Swartz has been supplying the pulpit on Sunday mornings during the past four months, while Mrs. Swartz has recently led a group of the young people in a study of the negro problem. The lecture discussion on Wednesday evening will be led by Dr. Swartz, under the topic, "Is There a God?" The Social Committee is preparing a program.

First M. E.

L. Garrard and Mrs. E. White will tell of the meetings at the dedication of the Angelus Temple at Los Angeles.

First Presbyterian

Tomorrow evening at the First Presbyterian church Dr. Frank M. Silsley, the pastor, has for his sermon "Folks in Grave Clothes I Know." Dr. Silsley will consider the following questions: Are there any dead men in the market place today? Are there any women in grave clothes in the market place today? Are there any men in grave clothes in the market place today? How can people be living and yet wear grave clothes at the same time? What is the greatest sin producer of grave clothes today?

Speaking of this sermon Dr. Silsley said, "We deceive ourselves as to manifestations of living. We may think that noise and the spectacular are evidences of Christian living, whereas the real truth is many religious leaders and many public leaders and many engaged in practical walks of life are wearing grave clothes. We need to know the sin today that is producing dead men and women in grave clothes."

The temple choir of 50 voices will give a musical program. The anthem by F. A. Wedell, "Softly the Silent Night," and "How Excellent is Thy Loving Kindness," for soprano and bass solos and quartet will feature this program. Walter B. Kennedy will give an organ recital at the close of the service.

Plymouth Congregational

At Plymouth Congregational church Rev. Lynn T. White, D. D., who has the chair of Christian sociology in the San Francisco Theological seminary, will preach both morning and evening tomorrow. His morning subject is "A Popular and Respectable Sin: Discontent." In the evening the subject is "What May We Believe About Heaven?" Lowell Redfield, the popular music director of Plymouth, has assembled a choice number of singers in a chorus which add greatly to the worship features. The choral numbers for the evening are the following:

(a) Chorus duet. Sopranos and Altos. "In Heavenly Love Abiding." Mendelssohn. (b) Soprano Solo. "O Lord Most Holy." Cesar Franck. Dr. Charles L. Kloss, the pastor, is supplying the First Congregational church of San Francisco for the remainder of February and March, but hopes to be in his pulpit again for Easter and the months of April and May.

Dr. Kloss is planning to conduct another party to Europe this summer, and has outlined an itinerary which covers most of the interesting places in England, Scotland and the continent, and sailing from San Francisco.

RAY LIBRARIANS WILL CONSIDER CUT IN BUDGET

Contra Costa County Official Approaches Curtailing of Activities.

MARTINEZ, Feb. 24. — Mrs. Alice G. Whitbeck, county librarian, will attend a meeting of librarians of the bay district in San Francisco today, called for the purpose of considering the budget recommendation of Governor Richardson for the state library. Unless the budget is changed to provide more money to the state library its activities will have to be curtailed materially with a resultant loss of service to counties that cannot be overlooked, Mrs. Whitbeck declared today.

Contra Costa profits considerably through the state library through ability to secure many books of a special nature that are not carried here, in research work and reference of requests to other counties when the state is unable to fill them, Mrs. Whitbeck asserted. More than 300 special requests were filled by the state library for Contra Costa last year, she declared.

If the budget recommendation of the governor is not changed counties cannot help but feel the lack of service, Mrs. Whitbeck declared. "I feel sure that county librarians through the entire state will express themselves against the reduction the governor's budget plan."

Mrs. Whitbeck was advised by Milton J. Ferguson, state librarian, that the budget provides but $183,210, less than was provided the library ten years ago, when $197,200 was available. In 1921-22 the library appropriation was $18,500 and for this biennium $37,925 was requested. The governor's recommendation slashes $194,715 from the amount requested. Ferguson declared that the budget recommendation would force dismissal of from 20 to 25 employees and force a reduction of 65 per cent in purchase of periodicals and books.

SITE PICKED AT U. S. ARSENAL FOR BENICIA PAGEANT

Romance of Earliest Days in California Will Again Live in Allegory.

BENICIA, Feb. 24. — Miss Gene Davis, instructor of art and literature in Armijo High school at Fairfield, made a special trip to Benicia this week to inspect the grounds for the historical pageant to be held May 11. She was accompanied by Miss Anna Kyle, also instructor at the county seat, and by Miss Clara Dill, county librarian. They are planning the staging of the pageant in which all towns and communities in Solano county will be well represented.

In company with R. C. Bryce, president of the Benicia Chamber of Commerce, they inspected the various sites in the lower part of the county and selected the great natural amphitheater at the United States Arsenal grounds, as most suitable and having the greatest historic significance.

The great amphitheater will conveniently accommodate 15,000 people. Back of the spectators will be the great walls of the old Arsenal building with rows of cannon surrounding it, and before them, looking over the spacious stage and the hundreds of actors, will be the expanse of upper San Francisco bay with Mount Diablo and the great interior in the distance.

Here the boats coming and going will carry one's mind away from the hundreds of actors and school children in the pageant, to the day when the argonauts made their way to the interior finally building a greater country than the land of gold.

Miss Davis, who is responsible for the pageant, denies the honor very graciously. She said: "Those sturdy men and lovely women of the gold days wrote this history, not I, and we must keep it alive. We are only doing our bit that humanity may see it enacted again on the same grounds."

Colonel E. P. O'Hern, commandant of the Arsenal, has offered every assistance possible and the moral support of the military guarantees success.

WIFE MURDERED CHARGE LAID TO SANTA CRUZ MAN

J. P. Masters, Realty Broker, in Jail; Spouse Found in Home Beaten to Death.

SANTA CRUZ, Feb. 24. — (By International News Service.) — Following the death early today at Hanley hospital of Mrs. Elizabeth Masters, District Attorney Stanford G. Smith today filed a charge of murder against her husband, John R. Masters, realty broker. Masters was arrested yesterday and is being held at the county jail.

District Attorney Smith admitted that new evidence had been discovered, but declined to make it public.

Mrs. Masters died from brutal injuries sustained the night before, when her skull was crushed by blows from an iron bar. According to Masters the blows were inflicted by two holdup men who robbed her home.

Masters claims that one of the two bandits struck his wife on the head while he struggled with the other. Police investigation, however, found that two of Masters' five children, who were sleeping in adjoining rooms, heard a struggle. Mrs. Masters was attacked, police believe, as she lay sleeping in the Masters home shortly before 10 o'clock Thursday night, and flatly charge the husband with responsibility for his wife's death.

POLICE SEEK OTHER WOMAN. A woman is being sought who, police believe, can aid them in tracing Masters' movements the day of the tragedy. It is known that he visited Turlock and told the police he returned here at 3:30. They place his return two hours earlier and declare he spent the time at the home of a woman.

Alleged financial difficulties and a $5000 insurance policy on Mrs. Masters' life, payable to the husband, are advanced by the police as the motives for the crime which they charge against Masters.

According to the story Masters told the police he was awakened shortly after 10 o'clock Thursday night by a flashlight passing in front of his eyes. He awoke to find two masked men bending over the bed, one of whom was beating his wife over the head with an iron bar. He declares that he struggled with the man and wrested the bar from him, only to be overcome by a blow on the head. The burglars fled, he declared.

DAUGHTER TELLS STORY.

The 5-months-old baby of the Masters slept in its crib in the same room throughout the tragedy. Ray Masters, 17, a son, was not aroused and Helen Masters, 9, was awakened only by the means of her mother. She told police that when she attempted to enter the room her father told her to "wait a minute." When she did enter, she says, she saw her mother lying on the floor in a pool of blood and her father was wiping blood from his hands on a pillow case.

Police declare that a screen door, through which Masters claimed the robbers gained entrance, had been broken from the inside and not the outside of the house.

The coroner's inquest will be held late this afternoon. At that time the police will lay before the investigating body the evidence they have gathered to support the murder charge.

COMMUNITY CHEST NEEDS BIG SLOGAN

Artists and Public Generally Asked to Put in Poster Form Visualization of the Idea Needed in Appeal

With $50 as a prize a poster and slogan contest was announced yesterday in connection with the Community Chest campaign in Oakland. Artists and the public generally are asked to put into poster form a visualization of the idea and the appeal of the Community Chest movement and to then drive the message home with a punchy slogan of not over six words. Tuesday, March 13, has been fixed as the date by which the contributions must be in. Announcement of the judges and other details will be made later.

"We want to put the story of the Community Chest into a picture and then epitomize the picture with a slogan," explained Annie Florence Brown, chairman of the committee in charge of the competition. "We believe that this can be done with telling effect. The winning poster and slogan will be used as the official emblem. The judges are to be selected later and the other details connected with the contest will be announced in the press. All of the art students in the various schools are asked to enter this competition. It will not, however, be confined to them. The public generally is invited to compete. The poster must be 14 by 22 inches."

STATEMENT PREPARED. Serving with Miss Brown on the committee are Max Horwinski and P. A. Briggs. For the information of those who will enter the contest the following brief statement of the Community Chest campaign has been prepared:

"The idea and the appeal of the Community Chest movement is one that particularly adapts itself to treatment in a poster and in a slogan. In San Francisco the slogan adopted was 'Suppose Nobody Cared.'"

"The Community Chest is simply a fund to which the public contributes once a year what it desired to give for charity, relief and welfare work. This fund is to be administered by competent business men, and will be distributed among institutions and agencies and organizations of the city to bring relief to the needy, comfort to the sick, encouragement to the despairing, aid to dependent children and good influence into the lives of growing boys and girls."

"At the present time there are approximately forty-two different organizations doing charity and welfare work in Oakland. These institutions are dependent upon the public for support and make their different appeals for funds at different times in the year."

WILL SURVEY WORK. Under the Community Chest idea, a survey will be made of all of the charity work to be done. A budget will then be prepared and the various charitable organizations will be financed through this. The public will be asked to make one subscription a year instead of many and any waste that might creep in through the duplication of charity or welfare work will thus be eliminated.

"There can be no question of the need of health, welfare and character building institutions. Clinics are required to protect the health of those who cannot afford frequent consultations with family physicians; hospitals must have beds free to those who cannot pay; those who are handicapped must have attention and be helped in order that they may become self-supporting. There must be centers where growing boys and girls may be provided recreation and be kept from the streets. These needs must be provided for. It is a community's duty to provide for them."

"The Community Chest offers the best means yet developed in America to do that. It is not an experiment in all, nearly all American cities have Community Chests, or a closely allied form of financing their philanthropic work. An incontrovertible argument in favor of the Community Chest is that once a city has adopted the idea it has not returned to the separate, uncoordinated, haphazard old

Cupid Works on Skates During Truckee Trip

Kid Cupid does not always wear the scant garb of eternal spring. He was on the job at Truckee a couple of weeks ago in a mackinaw, a muffler and a pair of skates. Result: Miss Florence Sheldon of Oakland, said to be the most beautiful of the 1000 girls employed at the head office of the Southern Pacific in San Francisco, became a bride today. Her name is now Mrs. Ferdinand Gleeson.

Although she and Gleeson had been employees in the same offices for more than a year, they did not get acquainted until about two weeks ago. They met at Truckee while on a week-end trip for the Truckee winter sports. While not listed in descriptive leaflets, it developed that Cupid's archery also comes under the head of winter sports when the right persons get together.

Mrs. Gleeson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Sheldon of 1441 Eleventh avenue, Oakland. Gleeson's address is 165 Forest Side, San Francisco. Miss Sheldon has been employed in the office of the auditor of freight accounts of the Southern Pacific at 65 Market street. Gleeson is employed as rate clerk in the general freight department of the same company. Gleeson has been in the employ of the com-

Davis, watched the freight train pull out of the yards with its cargo.

Airship 'Stuck' In Mid-Air by 100-Mile Gale

HOW could an airship be stuck in the air? Jack Bell, famous Western writer, tells about it in an article in THE TRIBUNE's Sunday Magazine. The narrative deals with the experiences of Pilots Winslow and Vance and their heroic battle against a 100-mile hurricane. In describing the adventure, Bell says: "Here was an electron striving and fighting against the supremacy of the thunder and storm gods, a vision, a picture in the sky that will make a lasting impression of such vividness that it will never be effaced from the memory of those who witnessed it."

Other Sunday TRIBUNE Magazine features are: "Revisit of the 'Crazy Brides,'" by Omar Moffatt; "What's Behind the Sphinx," by Frank Clift; "The Oldest Man in the World," by Andrew R. Boone; "At Last! POLICE FOIL $50,000 LEAF GOLD ROBBERY

DENVER, Feb. 24.—A plot to rob the Denver museum of $50,000 worth of leaf gold was frustrated with the arrest last night of three men giving the names of C. H. Burton, Tom Bullock and C. E. McLean.

The men, according to police, admitted having planned to break into the museum some time during the night. They were to slug the night watchman, they said, blow the safe containing the leaf gold, and make their escape in an auto.

Police were "tipped" on the proposed holdup and immediately rounded up the men. Headquarters refused to give source of their information on the plot.

An auto in possession of the men contained a rope, blankets, arms and ammunition, as well as explosives, police said.

EXTENSION OF BERKELEY LINE DENIED

State Railroad Commission Turns Down Plea of West Berkeleyans for Lengthening Dwight Way Tracks

Though holding that there is "an obligation on the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway to render some sort of service in the district in West Berkeley" partially served by the Dwight Way line, the State Railroad Commission today declined to order the extension of the Dwight way line for one mile from its present terminus at University avenue and Sixth street north to the city limits. This extension had been requested by the West Berkeley Improvement club and other civic bodies.

The commission bases its decision on the conclusion that "from careful investigation of the number of persons living along the line of the proposed extension, and estimating the probable revenue of such a line, the installation of the street car service requested by the complainants is not justified."

BUS SUGGESTED.

A suggestion is, however, made by the commission that the street railway company apply to the municipality of Berkeley for a permit to operate a bus service.

In the course of the hearing, the company contended that the commission has no jurisdiction to order an extension of a railway into new territory, and quoted a supreme court ruling, in the case of the Santa Fe Railway company, in which it was held that:

"The supervision of service rendered by a railroad company is a proper matter for public regulation and control. The question whether a railroad company shall extend its lines to points not theretofore reached by it, whether, in other words, it shall engage in a new and additional enterprise, is one of policy to be determined by its directors. To compel a railroad company to apply its property to the construction and operation of a line of railroad which it does not desire to construct or operate is to take its property."

ONE MAN CARS FACTOR.

In reply to the contention of the company, the commission held that it was not applicable to the present case.

The fact that the operation of one-man cars is prohibited in Berkeley was among the factors that led the commission to make its recommendation that a bus service should be considered for this line, and that a trial of such service be made to determine whether the proposed extension would be warranted.

Magazine Describes Snow's Flivver Hunts

Under the head "Flivvering After Big Game in Africa," the Literary Digest of February 24 has an illustrated article dealing with the achievements in the dark continent of H. A. Snow and Sidney Snow of the Oakland museum expedition.

The article tells of the important part played in the Snow expedition by an automobile, which engaged in a duel with a wart hog, and which was attacked by a lion and a rhinoceros, and chased a leopard up a tree. The article, which is of considerable length, deals in a general way with the Snow expedition adventures, and describes the ride to the equator in the trusty "flivver" over roads never yet "trodden" by rubber tires.

LIVERMORE HOSPITAL IS ASSURED

Congressman MacLafferty in Telegram Says Veterans' Bureau May Call for Bids On Structure by March 15

Assurance that the matter of constructing a government hospital at Livermore is being pushed by the Veterans' Bureau in Washington with the cooperation of the California delegation in congress is given by Congressman James H. MacLafferty in a letter received here today.

Addressed to THE TRIBUNE, the message from Congressman MacLafferty is as follows:

"From reading the California papers I get the impression that there seems to be the belief on the part of some people that the project of the government hospital at Livermore has been abandoned and that the hospital is to be built in Southern California."

"I wish you would please give publicity to the fact that this is entirely erroneous and as far from the truth as it could be."

"The facts are that the Veterans' Bureau here in Washington is pushing matters ahead as rapidly as they can and expect to ask for new bids for the hospital at Livermore about March 15, 1923. They are hoping and believing that the amount of $200,000 will be within the appropriation and as soon as they are submitted and the successful bidder is determined, they will proceed with all speed to the erection of the institution that is so badly needed."

Attorney Charges Policeman Drunk On Witness Stand

When the trial of Thomas Walsh and John Dorney, charged with burglary, reopens Monday morning one of the first witnesses to be called to the stand will be Edward Frohn, police officer, who will be subjected to a grilling by defense attorneys, following the charge made in court Friday afternoon that while Frohn was on the witness stand in the trial he was intoxicated.

The charge came after Frohn had been questioned at considerable length by the defense attorney. He had been excused from the stand and had left the courtroom. The attorney, addressing Superior Judge H. D. Burroughs, who is hearing the case, said:

"I move to strike out the entire testimony of this police officer on the ground that he was intoxicated while on the witness stand."

Assistant District Attorney Frank A. Shuy in a hot retort said:

"This man is the greatest malinger of character that I have ever been my misfortune to meet."

Judge Burroughs, in denying the motion, directed that the attorney could recall Frohn to question him as to his sobriety, and a new subpoena was issued for the officer.

Charges that George Waterman, also known as Milton Carnahan, is insane will be heard Monday morning at the receiving hospital by members of the lunacy commission. This action follows the second attempt of Waterman to end his life, both attempts having been made in the county jail, where he is being held on a charge of passing bad checks.

Waterman, 35, was recently at-tempted to commit suicide early Friday morning when he secured a razor and attempted to slash his throat. He was disarmed by fellow-prisoners and immediately thereafter tried to hang himself, being prevented by the rival of jailers summoned by the trustees in the jail.

The first attempt by Waterman on his life came about four weeks ago when he tried to hang himself. At that time he was charged with insanity, but the commission found him to be sane.

Waterman recently entered a plea of guilty to having passed worthless checks in Alameda. He asked for probation and his case is now being investigated by Leonard D. Compton, probation officer.

Opening of Tracts Incites Building

ALAMEDA, Feb. 24.—The opening of several new tracts of land in various sections of Alameda, combined with a growing demand for improved housing facilities, has resulted in a building activity of unusual briskness being experienced in Alameda, according to Eugene Mallott, building inspector.

The total amount of permits issued during the month of February is $144,550 with alterations aggregating $17,000. This is the highest total reached in more than five years during the month of February, and sets a new record in building permits in the city, Mallott points out.

For Apartment Houses as Well as Homes

is a paying investment!

In the first place, hardwood woodwork is not expensive.

For $50 to $200 per room over Pine or Redwood you can have a full interior of genuine Mahogany, Quartered Oak, Hawaiian Koa, Plain Oak or Southern Gum.

The charm and elegance of hardwood woodwork is lasting. Hardwood is not easily knocked and marred, and with one good varnish finish in the beginning it maintains its fine condition indefinitely.

Picture in your home—a beautiful Oak staircase, a built-in buffet of Walnut, or French doors of genuine Mahogany, with window and door casings, baseboards, etc., to match.

Hardwood finish places a house in a distinctly higher class for renting and selling, as well as for occupying. This is true over years of wear as well as when new.

See that your architect or lumberman gives you a figure on hardwood trim as well as Pine or Redwood.

SUSPECT IS ARRESTED IN CAFE HOLDUP

Bob Murphy, Once Linked With Reuel With Police, But Released, Under Law Quiz As Pergola Bandit

Bob Murphy, 1555 Madison street, was taken into custody last night by the police as a suspect in the Pergola holdup which occurred last month. Murphy was arrested by Inspectors Tim Flynn and P. A. Wallman at Eleventh and Franklin streets and is being held for investigation.

It was stated at police headquarters today that Captain of Inspectors Richard McSorley would have Sheriff Barnett bring in witnesses of the Pergola robbery to look at Murphy in an effort to determine whether or not he had any connection with the affair.

Murphy was arrested several months ago in connection with another holdup, but was subsequently released. The previous arrest occurred on October 22 after William McMahon and Henry Shaffer were shot to death at Ninety-sixth and East Fourteenth street by a posse headed by Captain Thorwald Brown. They had held up and robbed a tavern and roadside in Contra Costa county and had stolen an auto. The gun battle with the police occurred when the men, on their way to San Jose, held up Charles Moody and his son of 2150 Clement street, Alameda, at Ninety-sixth avenue and East Fourteenth street.

In one of the dead men's pockets a telephone number was found, and it was through this number that the police found and arrested Murphy in Oakland. He was turned over to the Contra Costa authorities but was later released owing to lack of evidence.

Since then, according to the local police, Murphy has been "hanging around" pool rooms and dance halls in Oakland.

Word of 'Dead', Revived, Leads to Slayer's Conviction

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 24.—The old question, "If a man shall he live again?" has been answered by Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, chief justice of the California supreme court.

The answer is "yes."

Judge Wilbur, in a story in the Santa Barbara Morning Press, this morning gave for the first time the story of how Earl Moore, Folsom convict, for whose murder George Donnelly was hanged yesterday, was dead and was brought to life—not once but several times.

According to Judge Wilbur, the petition for appeal of Donnelly's case from the lower court, Moore was struck down by a knife blow which severed the spinal cord. Heart action ceased almost immediately. The body was carried to the city hospital, where artificial respiration was applied. After a time the body was revived and renewed animation. The air was pumped into the lungs and Moore regained consciousness. He spoke the words spoken by the body that led to the conviction of Donnelly.

WOMAN OF STEGE FOUND KILLED ON SANTA FE TRACKS

Mrs. Mary Bossia Evidently
ing to Son's Home.

The mangled body of Mrs. Mary Bossia, aged 42, of Stege, was found alongside the Santa Fe right-of-way at the Lincoln avenue crossing in El Cerrito at an early hour today. Mrs. Bossia left her home last night to walk to the home of her son, Harry Bossia, in El Cerrito, and apparently had been struck by a Santa Fe train while attempting to cross the tracks. The body was found by Edward Conlon of El Cerrito. It was doubled up, with the head beneath it, badly crushed. Mrs. Bossia apparently had been hurled about 15 feet, striking head first against the cattle guard at the crossing. George T. Keenan, of 340 Nineteenth street, Oakland, a foreman in the Pullman department of the Santa Fe shops at Richmond, saw the body from the window of a Richmond hotel about 7:45 a. m. today, shortly after Conlon had found it. He notified the train crew and the train was brought to a standstill. The members of the crew did not disturb the body, but a report was made to the Richmond police when the train reached Richmond.

Whole Family Found Starving In Hill Shack

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Two men, a woman and six children, none of whom could speak intelligibly, were found yesterday by state troopers in a small shack in the Sullivan county mountains, twenty miles from here, and have been brought to this city to be cared for by the county authorities. The troopers said they found the nine clothed in rags and the carrots in their only food for days. A horse, quartered in one of the two stables, was being kept alive on twigs and bark, while a pig apparently had not been fed for some time.

Nora Donovan, 37, mother of one of the children, whose ages ranged from 3 to 8, probably will be placed in an institution for the feeble-minded. Wilbur Wright, 36, a widower, is father of the other two children.

Only one of the children ever had attended school, and then only for a short period. They could express their wishes only by chattering and grunting like animals.

Sensational De Mille Picture
Seen at the American Theater

PAULINE GARON, De Mille's latest "discovery," who plays a leading part in "Adam's Rib," which opened a limited engagement at the American today.

Cecil De Mille's Conception of Modern Woman Is Arousing Interest in Oakland.

When Adam donated one rib far back in the garden of Eden he hardly realized that the incident was one day thousands of years ago, and that it would give rise to a great and elaborate photoplay.

But such has happened and "Adam's Rib" is the title under which Cecil B. De Mille has conceived one of the most beautiful and dramatic pictures of the year. The picture begins a limited engagement at the American Theatre today.

changed from those of the other ages. The production is portrayed by a notable cast, including De Mille's sensational new discovery, Evelyn Brent, who is to play the part as modern Eve. Others in the cast are Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Elliott Dexter and Theodore Kosloff.

The production marks the opening of the spring season at the American, where new decorations and new lighting effects have been recently arranged for the occasion.
